Liberals Mount State Protest Against Ticket

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan's Democratic party gathering here for its fall state convention, clearly shows that it is entering the election campaign racked by deep and serious divisions.

A large liberal faction of untested strength, opposed to their party's presidential nominee and critical of its national platform, planned to mount an across-the-board attack on party regulars at the convention today.

First on the agenda was a march around the Grand Rapids Civic Center, scene of the Democratic conclave. Anti-Humphrey delegates also planned to test their strength in a series of fights on the floor.

Meanwhile, party officers, just returned from the national convention in Chicago, made a last-minute announcement that Rep. Philip Burton, D-Calif., a supporter of Sen. Eugene McCarthy, would be the state convention's keynote speaker.

Bands 'Mourn' Chicago

There were reports that Michigan Democrats had sought an appearance by Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, the party's vice presidential nominee. Muskie's opponent, Gov. Spiro Agnew of Maryland, addressed the Re-

Humphrey Home, Greeting Mixed

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota's first major party presidential nominee, arrived home to a mixed greeting of cheers from supporters and heckling from antiwar demonstrators.

Humphrey, fresh from his first-ballot nomination at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, and his running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, flew into Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport Friday night, en route to a weekend of rest at the vice president's lakeshore home in nearby Waverly.

About 250 persons, divided about evenly between Humphrey supporters and backers of his defeated presidential rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, also of Minnesota, were on hand to greet them.

Highway Blocked

Humphrey's arrival time had been advertised in local newspapers, and aides attributed the slim turnout to a plane crash several hours earlier which had blocked the main highway leading to the airport.

The mixed reception was similar to many of those Humphrey received in the preconvention campaign. And the tenor of the crowd indicated that Humphrey's appeals for party unity delivered at the convention and at Friday's meeting of the Democratic National Committee had made little impact on those who had backed McCarthy and opposed the Democratic party position on Vietnam.

"We want Gene!" they shouted as Humphrey worked his way along the airport fence shaking hands. These chants, and others of "Stop the war," frequently drowned out the "We want Hubert" cries from the vice president's supporters.

And there were as many critical signs, such as one reading "The choice of the party bosses not the people," as well as the pro-Humphrey signs reading.

Soviet, Bulgarian Troops Mass At Romanian Border

Johnson Vows Not To Appear Red Aggression

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, noting reports Red troops are massing for a possible Czech-style invasion elsewhere in Eastern Europe, says he will not appease those who "prowl across national boundaries."

"Let no would-be aggressors misjudge American policy during this administration," Johnson said Friday night in the strongest language he has beamed toward Moscow in months.

Johnson, however, in a speech to a hushed audience of dairymen in San Antonio, stopped well short of threatening military action against any Soviet border busting.

Gets Special Report

But White House sources said Johnson spoke on the basis of sufficient information, presumably about threats to Romania, to cause "anxiety."

Shortly before leaving his ranch home to fly by helicopter for the annual convention of Milk Producers, Inc., a marketing cooperative, Johnson received a report of ominous signs in Eastern Europe from Walt W. Rostow, his special assistant for national security affairs.

The President, aides said, then conferred by telephone with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford before preparing an addition to his speech text.

"Let no one unleash the dogs of war," Johnson told the 3,500 dairymen.

Johnson told the 3,500 dairymen.

Deplores Invasion

After deplored the Czech invasion, he said, "There are even rumors late this evening that this action might be repeated elsewhere in the days ahead in Eastern Europe."

He went on to say, "We cannot and we must not in the year 1968 return to a world of unabated aggression."

Picnic At Pioneer:

Area Labor Day Program To Be Family Affair

Members of organized labor, their families and friends, will gather at Pioneer Trail Park on Monday afternoon for a program devoted to entertainment events for young and old, reports Nell Kositzky, general chairman.

Labor Day's observance in this area has changed through the years as the emphasis swings to more informality and picnic fun and fewer speeches. The traditional Labor Day parade went out about three years ago when band members decided they would rather relax than march.

The picnic in the afternoon of Labor Day at Pioneer Trail Park continues an enjoyable program that began about 50 years ago; but the procession of speakers has dwindled as the crowds preferred the games and contests and refreshments to the speeches.

Arrangements for the events of Labor Day are being made by Kositzky as general chairman with Arnold Burkum, Ralph Kennedy, Ken West, Roy Goldberg, Ben Mannebach and Robert Martin of the committee.

"The program at Pioneer Trail Park is scheduled to start at 1 p.m. and there will be games and contests for young and old, with many prizes for the winners," said Kositzky. "There will be free ice cream bars for the kids and refreshment stands serving food and beverage for the adults."

Industry and area business are cooperating with financial assistance in providing gift certificates and money as prizes, he reported.

The Little German Band will play for the entertainment of the crowds and a teenage group will play for dancing for the young people.

Political candidates are expected to be on hand for campaign talks and hand-shaking tours, and Kositzky said that an opportunity will be given them to speak but that no formal program is planned. Kositzky emphasized that the public is welcome to attend the Labor Day festivities.

The Rock Teen Club is sponsoring a dance at the Finn Hall west of Rock from 10 p.m. until 1 a.m., with music by the Riot Squad.

Agricultural exhibits may be brought to the grounds Monday morning. The Rock 4-H will again set up a booth displaying various project work of the past year. Festival chairman is Leo Kukki. He may be contacted for more information.

TYPICAL TRAFFIC on US-2 is shown in this photograph of the Whitefish Hill approach east of Rapid River. A tank truck is followed by two cars, one of them with a rooftop boat, and then another truck. There's no chance to pass because cause of traffic in the other lane most of the time and the heavy incidence of boat, camper and tent trailers to slow the traffic. (Daily Press Photo)

Lots Of Cussing Because of Congestion

US-2 Traffic Record Making

As the Escanaba area entered one of its greatest highway traffic weekends of the year, Rep. Charles Varnum said that he was certain it will set a record for auto counts and that August traffic on U. S. 2 has been at an all-time high.

The Labor Day weekend is traditionally the end of the summer recreation season in the Upper Peninsula and marked by a great exodus to the big cities as families return their children to school, but Varnum said that he is certain that the summer record of highway traffic in the Upper Peninsula will be followed by an autumn record.

"I've been at the Sault and Newberry, Escanaba and Gladstone and Manistique," said Varnum "and they all report record business after a very slow start this summer because of rain and cold.

Cohos Help

"This coho thing is going to be continuous—it's not going to let up. Come Labor Day in other years, and we had boom and bust, but with the cohos it's going to be stronger than ever up here in the fall. It's so big that there's a property at Thompson that was offered for sale for $35,000 last year and which now has a $75,000 price tag on it. (Thompson is the site of a 1967 coho salmon planting in Thompson Creek which flows into Lake Michigan there which is now attracting hundreds of coho fishermen daily.)

"I am glad to see that Delta County has formed a committee to plan for the coho runs here because people can't realize what this is like. When they say 'Coho Fever' they mean it."

Traffic Unprecedented

Varnum obtained from G. J. McCarthy, chief of the Bureau of Operations, Michigan Department of State Highways, for the Press the latest available figures on highway traffic in the eastern Upper Peninsula and they indicate data support of his belief that a highway traffic record is in the making in the area.

The adjusted daily average count of traffic on the Mackinac Bridge showed more cars in March, 1967 than in March, 1968, but in every month since then the count has gone up. This is even more true of the highway count at Brevort, 19.5 miles west of the Mackinac Bridge on US 2.

Cars Counted

Adjusted daily average count of vehicles 1967 and 1968:

Month	Bridge	Brevort
January	1025-1108	644-714
February	1062-1119	557-709
March	1526-1468	822-874
April	1684-2290	1023-1327
May	2940-2996	1301-1551
June	5317-5780	2764-3187

Not even at Marquette, with its greater population, is there as much average 24-hour traffic flow as Gladstone-Escanaba. The average Marquette area flow was 7,300 vehicles in 1965 and Gladstone it was 7,500. In 1967 the figure at Rapid River was 4,500, at Gladstone 7,400, at Escanaba Escanaba area to the highest, 7,000, at Pine Ridge 4,000, figures in the Upper Peninsula. Manistique's count was 3,500, the Mackinac Bridge count 3,835.

Fear To Proceed

The buildup in traffic on US 2 finds it inadequate to handle the flow and with no prospect of immediate major aid to alleviate the condition of crowding that slows traffic on the two lane road and makes it an annoyance to be avoided by tourists.

Typical of the letters from travelers which the Press had received this summer is this one:

"Last Monday I drove from Blaney Park to Escanaba and US 2 was really 'saturated' with traffic all the way and by rain much of the way. Many cars were without lights although cars and trucks were throwing so much water and mist one could hardly see beyond the vehicle immediately ahead. I saw one car and one truck pulled off the road in fear of proceeding."

Emergency Repairs

Varnum said that McCarthy reported that Gladstone had finally signed a contract with the State Highway Department and that the four-lane highway on US 2 from Escanaba to Gladstone will be continued from Gladstone to Rapid River in 1971.

This means three years before start of work on the Upper Peninsula's greatest highway traffic bottleneck and this project will provide no relief for the hazards on US 2 to the east.

"I requested emergency repair in the Ensign to Nahma Junction, Cooks Corners and Thompson areas," said Varnum. "McCarthy had just made a trip over the highway in that area and he indicated that some emergency repairs would have to be made by the state before the 1971 major reconstruction of US 2 in those areas."

Briefly Told

The American Legion and Auxiliary will meet on Monday, Sept. 9 because of the Labor Day holiday.

Beach Closes On Monday

The Recreation Department announced today that the municipal swimming beach will close for the season Monday, Sept. 2. Lifeguards will be on duty over the weekend.

Attendance figures at the beach were up over last year and crowds of nearly 1,000 enjoyed the facility on hot afternoons of July and August. The normal decline of activity at the beach was evident after the middle of August and only three lifeguards were on duty at the end of the month.

Francis Lueneburg, in his 22nd season at the beach, directed all waterfront activities and instructed boys in Beginners division swimming classes. Linda Wylie assisted Lueneburg and was responsible for girls in the Beginners division along with Gregg Johnson, in his first year at the beach.

Joe Mileski served as water safety instructor and conducted Junior and Senior Life Saving classes for boys and girls 12 years of age and older.

Bob Snyder was in charge of the Swimmers, Intermediate and Advanced classes in addition to performing guard duty. John Mileski, who was a volunteer assistant last year, assisted with the swimming classes and was on duty during the day. Warren Nye and Larry Anderson of the College Work-Study Program were responsible for custodial duties in the bath house.

Kathy Johnson and Al Gossan, Jr., completed their first season as lifeguards.

New Look For Labor

Even as Labor Day becomes ever more deeply entrenched among American traditions, progress persists in chipping away at what was once its major significance.

It was the unskilled and semi-skilled laboring man, the blue-collar legions of an industrial society in the making, that the first Monday of each September initially was set aside to honor.

Many a sunny day of picnics, parades, ball-games and just plain taking it easy has since been crossed off the calendars. And the nation that was building an industrial society has crossed a few bridges. It is now deep into the age of computers and automation, not the least of the effects being a steadily diminishing role for the nonspecialized worker.

As is so often the case with those affected by change yet not fully understanding it, the immediate reaction is fear — fear of loss of jobs by flesh-and-blood men to steel-and-circuit machines. That there is some basis for fear cannot be denied.

To try to hold fast to obsolete job skills and titles is like requiring every garage to keep a blacksmith on its staff, or forcing each office to maintain a quill sharpener.

Education is, of course, the heart of the answer, retraining a man replaced by a machine in one job to do another the machine is incapable of — or may very well itself have created.

Our experience in technological development shows that for every job lost through innovation, more are created.

And who knows? Perhaps in the bright, new world the more exuberant prophets say awaits us, Labor Day may acquire a meaning exactly the opposite of the original. It may not be a day off the job, but the one each year when we all take a break from our lives of leisure, turn off the machines and, for a change, go to work.

Conflict Of Interest

Carmen DelliQuadri, professor of economics at Michigan Tech, must have been gratified this week by the efforts to get him to reconsider his decision not to seek re-election as a member of the Michigan State Board of Education, which controls the state's educational system.

DelliQuadri had told the Lansing State Journal that he would not seek renomination in the Democratic State Convention at Grand Rapids this weekend. This led to efforts at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago to get DelliQuadri to change his mind and stand for re-election.

This effort had its counterpart in Lansing, where educational leaders urged him to reconsider, saying that they had been very impressed with his services to the state in this important office.

In the Upper Peninsula there was another friendly reaction of "Say it isn't so, Carmen." The action up here had a Native Son smack of sorts, but it was grounded in a sincere respect for DelliQuadri's services as a member of the state board.

Bay de Noc Community College leaders were among those who said: "He's been very helpful to higher education in the Upper Peninsula." This could be said of his interest in elementary and secondary education, too, and of course he's impressively knowledgeable about schooling in the Upper Peninsula.

There is a natural fear here that if DelliQuadri does not run his successor will not be from the Upper Peninsula and it will be left without representation in the State Board of Education. (The members are not elected from districts, but from the state at large and the Upper Peninsula, with a third of Michigan's area and 3 per cent of its people, doesn't fare well with one-man, one-vote.)

We subscribe to the admiration of Carmen DelliQuadri without urging his candidacy. We think that he has a conflict of interest as an employee of Michigan Technological University. Half of the members of the State Board of Education are now employees of institutions of higher education in the state and the prospect is that the percentage of such affiliations on the board will increase and that it may eventually become a board composed of persons all connected with the state's educational establishments.

We think that this is an unhealthy and ill-reasoned condition and prospect and we oppose it. Nor are we a bit impressed with the ruling of Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley that Mr. DelliQuadri has no conflict of interest serving on the State Board of Education as an employee of an institution which is controlled by it.

This Kelley ruling reminds us of some by the Michigan Supreme Court in which it agonized in legal tortures over an issue and then decided it on strictly partisan lines. We have a situation in Michigan where bankers have had to resign from local boards of education because the public schools put money into banks with which they were connected, and yet Kelley sees nothing wrong in DelliQuadri, Leroy Augenstine of Michigan State University, Marilyn Jean Kelly of Albion College and Peter Oppewall of Calvin College serving on the State Board of Education.

When Charles Varnum, who taught school in Manistique, was elected to the Michigan Legislature he had to quit as teacher before he could be seated as a legislator. While the Legislature appropriates state aids for schools, it has much less control over them than does the State Board of Education. It doesn't make sense.

The function of the State Board of Education is not to assemble professional expertise in education; that is available in the universities and in the State Department of Education. We're creating a stacked deck with which to play education in Michigan. We're putting the universities on notice that they'd better get a boy of their own on the State Board of Education. There are many able educators not employed by state institutions of higher education and with no taint of conflict of interest. Let's use them.

European's View: Americans Great

By LEON DENNEN

NEW YORK (NEA)—While it is fashionable these days for assorted intellectuals, here and abroad, to bait "decadent" America, a book just published in West Germany depicts the United States as a land of freedom, progress and promise.

Entitled "The Americans," the book was written by Norbert Muhlen, an eminent German-born newspaperman who has been reporting from the United States for European publications for close to three decades.

It is an objective and perspective study in depth of the American "national personality" and the habits, beliefs, illusions, ambitions and common purpose of the American people.

Friendly, and yet critical, "The Americans" is like a breath of fresh air in the stagnant intellectual atmosphere that currently plagues the United States.

Like Professor Marcuse, the high priest of the New Left and rioting students, Muhlen also came to the United States as a refugee from Nazi Germany.

But unlike Marcuse, who has only contempt for America's traditional values and democratic institutions, Muhlen sees the United States as the leader in humanity's quest for freedom and progress. He believes that American intellectuals, taking their cue from Marcuse and other arm-chair revolutionists, have been consistently guilty of presenting a false image of the United States.

For does he agree, as the intellectuals claim, that American society is "sick" or that Americans have lost their way in a fast-changing world. Such views and prognostications are as old as America itself. What they indicate is that American society is still as eager to experiment and improve itself as ever before.

"While America and Americans are growing older," Muhlen concludes, "they are still in their best years."

His book, when it appears in an English translation, could be read with profit especially by the politicians and their pollsters who constantly give bad ratings to the "American image" abroad.

The United States, Muhlen points out, is a great nation which need not engage in popularity contests.

Moreover, in international relations, "prestige" is a relative concept. Compared with Russia's sinking popularity even among Communists since the student riots in Europe and Moscow's attempt to destroy Czechoslovakia's freedom, America's image is bright indeed.

Muhlen compares "the power and influence" of present-day intellectuals and vocal professors to the power of the economic "robber barons" who sought to dominate American economic and spiritual life at the turn of the century.

In an orgy of self-hate, the intellectuals, white and black, borrow and copy half-baked revolutionary ideas from false and shallow prophets. But they ignore or discard American history and unprecedented social achievement as "so much rubbish or historic souvenirs."

Of course, as Muhlen sees it, Americans have negative traits. He believes, among other things, that they treat nature as "the enemy of the people." They are ever eager for change. They are ever impatient.

Even the advocates of "black power," who ostensibly seek a total break with American history, have acquired such basic American traits as impatience, the illusion that along problems can be solved overnight and the tendency to exaggerate social evils.

But the areas of strength in American society are vastly greater than the areas of weakness. If Americans make as many grave mistakes as other people, they are more likely to correct them. Muhlen proves this by a detailed analysis of the past and present foreign policy of the United States.

Strangely enough, an expert would worry about the play. There are no problems the way the cards lie but experts worry as a matter of habit. Probably the line adopted would be to lead a heart from dummy at trick two and assuming West ducked, to return a heart. This would allow two heart ruffs if necessary.

McCann predicted tonnage next year could reach a record 50 million to 52 million tons, barring tieups.

St. Lawrence In Near-Record Year

DETROIT (AP) — Cargo tonnage shipped through the St. Lawrence Seaway this year could be the second highest — some 46 million tons — in the waterway's 10 years of operation.

The prediction was made Thursday in Detroit by Joseph H. McCann, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., which operates U.S. facilities of the part-Canadian waterway.

The estimated tonnage would compare with 49.2 tons shipped in 1966 and 44 tons sent last year.

McCann said the near-record level is possible despite two lengthy strikes affecting traffic on the waterway this year. He estimated 4 million tons were lost when Canadian seaway workers struck for four weeks earlier this summer. Some 2 million tons of grain shipments were diverted by a strike in Canadian Lake Superior grain shipping ports.

McCann predicted tonnage next year could reach a record 50 million to 52 million tons, barring tieups.

This same set of modern bidders would get to the slay by a simpler line. North would bid four spades instead of three clubs to show a very big hand with no singleton. South would decide that his kings would now be of great value and move right into Blackwood.

This same set of modern bidders would not be able to try three clubs with the North hand because that bid followed by a spade raise would guarantee a singleton slay.

An even simpler way to get to slay would be to go back to 1931 Culbertson. North would open two-trump with his five honor tricks plus a jack. South would bid three spades and jump to six after his partner raised him to four.

Strangely enough, an expert would worry about the play. There are no problems the way the cards lie but experts worry as a matter of habit.

Probably the line adopted would be to lead a heart from dummy at trick two and assuming West ducked, to return a heart. This would allow two heart ruffs if necessary.

Our old friend Vic Gaudette of Springfield, Mass., is back at the card table after a year off due to illness.

Vic sends us this hand from the New England Spring Regionals. He says that most pairs failed to reach the laydown spade slam and wonders how it should be bid.

His own suggested bidding is shown in the box and has considerable merit. North has 19 high card points, but more important, they are almost all in aces and kings so he bid a trifl stronger than he would with a collection of queens and jacks and the same total.

South merely bid three notrump at his second turn but was encouraged to go into Blackwood when North showed spade support.

Some of our modern bidders will get to the slay by a simpler line. North would bid four spades instead of three clubs to show a very big hand with no singleton. South would decide that his kings would now be of great value and move right into Blackwood.

Used Steel Wool To Polish Good Silver

Dear Ann Landers: You recently published a letter from a woman who said she would rather starve to death than return to housework. The gal listed several complaints — principally the extra things she had to do which were NOT housework, such as wash the car, repair the plumbing, shampoo the dog, mow the lawn, shovel the snow and so on. You were most sympathetic and invited your readers to present "the other side of the story" if there is one.

Well, there is one, and here it is.

Two years ago I went to the expense of bringing a so-called housekeeper over here from another country. Within 60 days, she had boiled the plastic egg timer with the eggs, tried to straighten the curved knife with my pliers, put the rubber bathtub mat in the clothes dryer and ruined the motor, boiled a leg of lamb in deep water IN THE OVEN, and polished my silver with steel wool. I could go on, but I think you have the picture.

Thanks in advance for printing the "other side." —EASIER TO DO IT MYSELF

RACKY

Frightened, its wing broken, the bird was clinging to a rail when Tod found it. He brought it home, and "Racky" became its name.

Days passed and the bird mended quickly.

"Racky's getting well," the six-year old informed me one day.

"Will he fly away?" I nodded.

"But I want him to stay here! I'll feed him, and let him sleep in his box-house, and take care of him—an' everything!"

"But he might want to be with his friends," I said. There was silence as the boy pondered the idea.

"All right," he finally said. "I'll let him go. But I bet he'd be happier here with me!"

We, too, would be happier if we knew where we belong in the complex pattern of life. God helps us discover ourselves and our place in His universe through His Church.

The child didn't know any better.

Holiday Weekend Selected By Many Couples For Their Weddings

Mrs. James D. Beauchamp (Lee's Studio)

Stoykovich-Beauchamp Wedding Vows Said

The altars of St. Anthony's Church in Wells were decorated with gladioli and red carnations today for the double ring wedding ceremony uniting Patricia Josephine Stoykovich and James Dale Beauchamp.

Rev. Norbert Freiburger officiated at the 1 p.m. ceremony with the bride's brothers, Frank and John Stoykovich, as altar boys.

Traditional Gown

A traditional full length lace gown was selected by the bride. It was fashioned with a scalloped sabrina neckline embellished with sequins and beads. The dress has long lace sleeves. A crown of sequins and beads held her bouffant veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, carnations and red roses.

Maid of honor for her sister was Gayle Stoykovich and her cousin, Diane Rudden was bridesmaid. Brenda Lee Beauchamp, the bridegroom's niece, was flower girl. The bridal aides were attired in floor length gowns of light blue in empire style. The sleeveless bodices featured a modified scoop neckline with a light blue train in back. Brocade rosettes held bubbled illusion veiling and they carried a cascade of blue and white carnations.

The flower girl wore a dress styled like that of the bride. She wore a bow headpiece with bubbled veiling. Her bouquet was carnations and sweethearts.

Bernard McCormick was bestman and Duane Beauchamp, the bridegroom's brother, was groomsman. Thomas Stoykovich, the bride's brother, was ring bearer and Ralph Krause of New York, the bride's cousin and Francis Chenier, a cousin of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

Reception Today

At a reception later today at the Flat Rock Town Hall Mrs. Stoykovich will wear a lime green dress with matching jacket and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother is attired in a light pink dacron dress in princess style with pink and white accessories. Both mothers were given white orchid corsages. Mrs. Rose Rudden, a grandmother of the bride, was also presented an orchid.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Chicago, Newberry, New York, Grand Rapids, Milwaukee and surrounding areas. At the reception Mary Rudden and Roslyn Vian assisted.

The young couple was married before altars decorated with yellow and white gladioli. Rev. Jordan Telles O.F.M. officiated at the nuptials. Thomas and Jeffrey Bast, brothers of the bridegroom assisted as altar boys at the Mass.

The bridegroom is presently a senior at Northern Michigan University. He graduated from Holy Name High School. His bride graduated from Escanaba Area High School and is employed at Piggly Wiggly.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of silk organza. The floor length, A-line skirt fell to a chapel train in back. An empire waistline was trimmed with Alencon lace and pearls.

Bestman for his brother was William Bast. Groomsmen were William Storbeck and Jim Anzalone. The guests were seated by Thomas Abler, Waterloo, Canada, the bride's cousin and Timothy Schultz of Greendale, Wis., a cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception for guests from Lower Michigan, Wisconsin, Canada, Minnesota and surrounding areas will be held from 3 to 7 p.m. Mrs. Juntunen will greet guests wearing a pink silk sheath with a matching lace coat and coordinated accessories. A coat and dress ensemble of gold imported silk with bronze accessories has been selected by the bridegroom's mother. Both mothers will wear orchids. The couple's grandmothers will wear corsets of carnations.

When Mr. Bast and his bride leave for their honeymoon trip the bride will wear a brown, grey and orange striped knit suit. After Sept. 16 they will be at home at 101 Genesee, Marquette.

Emeralds Beaten In Opener, 33-7

MANISTIQUE — Ishpeming Hematites opened their 1968 grid on a successful note by knocking off defending Great Lakes Conference champion Manistique. The Emeralds shared the GLC crown with Negaunee last season.

The passing of Tom Hammar and the running of Lowell Anderson and Ray Johnson was too much for the Emerald defense to cope with. Hammar attempted 10 good for 160 yards and three touchdowns. Johnson led the Hematite ball carriers with 163 yards in 25 carries and Anderson chipped in with 108 yards in 24 carries to form the powerful Ishpeming ground attack.

Giants Obtain Maher In Trade

DETROIT (AP) — Veteran defensive back Bruce Maher was traded by the Detroit Lions today to the New York Giants for running back Bill Triplett and linebacker Bill Swain.

The National Football League trade gave a pair of undisclosed Lions draft choices to the Giants along with the 30-year-old Maher, who is in his ninth season.

Coach Joe Schmidt said Maher has been "a real great competitor for us, but we definitely needed an experienced running back to go with the four we have."

Triplett, 28, who is in his sixth NFL season, will join Lions running backs Dave Kopay, Tom Nowatzke, Mel Farr and Bobby Feltz. Triplett began his pro career with the St. Louis Cardinals before joining the Giants. He saw limited action with the Giants last season because of an injury, but Lions officials said he is in good shape now.

Like Triplett, Swain is 6 feet, 2 inches, and is in his sixth pro season. Swain, 27, was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams and played with Minnesota before joining the Giants in 1965.

Maher's replacement is expected to be Mike Weger or Wayne Rasmussen.

Senators Accept Game Given Them By Red Sox

By The Associated Press

Joe Coleman, the Washington Senators' young righthander, was hoping for just one run — and the generous Boston Red Sox gave him five in one of the worst defensive performances in Fenway Park in years.

The first half was all Ishpeming's, but Manistique proved that they came to play football. Ishpeming took the ball after the kickoff and covered 84 yards in 13 plays, only to fumble on the Manistique one-yard line. The Emeralds' Frank Provo pounced on the ball at the two.

The Emeralds marched down to the Ishpeming 30-yard line but had to give the ball up on downs. Ishpeming came back to score their fifth touchdown by Anderson, completing the 70-yard drive in 18 plays. Hout's kick was good this time and made the score 33-0.

Manistique got on the scoreboard on a run by Bob Males covering 27 yards. Males took the ball on a counter play, but swung around his own right end after he found the hole in the line plugged up. Males scored the extra point on a run.

Manistique's next drive covered 51 yards in 11 plays, but the Emeralds lost the ball on Ishpeming 22 after a fourth down draw play fell a yard short of the first down.

Keith Aldrich led the Emerald running attack with 119 yards in 18 carries, 106 of those yards coming in the second half. Males picked up 61 yards in 10 carries. As a team, Manistique carried the ball 39 times for 180 yards. They picked up 11 first downs in the game, nine by rushing and two by

THE BORN LOSER

BEETLE BAILEY

BLONDIE

By KENNETH S. LOWE

Swedish Pimples manufactured in the United States are now catching fish all the way from Canada to Nicaragua.

The lures have been produced in Gladstone since 1954 when Edwin Apelgren began making them for limited sale to his fishing friends. He got the idea for the lure from his father, Eric Apelgren of Gladstone, who had fished with this type of jig in his native Sweden, catching walleye, salmon, abore (large yellow perch), northern pike, codfish and mackerel on them.

"Dad brought some of these jigs back from Sweden for my brother and me, and they murdered the walleye in Bay de Noc," said Edwin Apelgren, one of the founders of the Bay de Noc Lure Co., which manufactures Swedish Pimples.

Wholesale Since 1955

The lures were so successful that Apelgren and his partners began manufacturing them for wholesale purchases in 1955.

The business has expanded to the point where about 200,000 of these lures are sold every year now in 38 states, Canada, Bermuda and Nicaragua.

From the start, the lures have been produced in a former blacksmith shop near the Gladstone business district. Apelgren had to add a Quonset hut to the shop several years ago to accommodate the expansion, but the company has outgrown this now.

Apelgren has three partners—his brother, Nels, and two other brothers, Lloyd and Carl Nyberg. "Although all four of us are Swedes, we've never had a serious argument—and that's fantastic," said Edwin Apelgren.

Employs Four

Bay de Noc Lure Co. now employs four people full-time and nine part-time.

The company began by manufacturing its lures in only two sizes—one-half ounce and three-quarters ounce. These were made especially for walleyes. They worked so well on walleyes that perch fishermen wanted smaller lures and lake trout fishermen demanded larger lures.

Swedish Pimples now are made in eight sizes (from one-tenth of an ounce to one and five-eighths ounces). They are made in five different finishes and numerous variations in patterns. Included are two coho salmon lures in four different finishes.

Edwin Apelgren, who is 46 and a native of Gladstone, believes the introduction of cohos into the Great Lakes two years ago has generated a $10,000,000 increase in American fishing tackle sales. He said his company "is getting our share of the coho business."

Brass Wire Base

A Swedish Pimple starts as a piece of brass wire from an eighth of an inch to three-eighths of an inch thick. This is put through a forging hammer to give it its rough shape. It is then sent to a punch press for trimming.

This is followed by three days spent in tumblers (just like the ones used to give a polish to Lake Superior agates). The metal pieces are polished in two wet tumblers and one dry tumbler. After that, each piece is hand-buffed.

Next, they are electro-cleaned and then nickel plated. Rings, hooks and teasers are then attached (some also may be equipped with various colored feathers or imitation perch eyes).

"Teasers are little plastic discs attached near the hooks," Apelgren said. "They seem to divert the fish's attention to the hook zone."

Ready To Package

The lures then are ready for packaging. They are placed in plastic containers ("bubbles") which are mounted on display cards.

"I keep as much of the business local as I can," said Apelgren. "The plastic bubbles are provided by John Anthony of Andex Industries in Escanaba. He supplies several industries with these display devices. The display cards are printed by Ron Watson here in Gladstone."

The Mustad hooks, however, are imported from Norway and the split rings from Germany. Sixty-five per cent of Swedish Pimples are sold for ice fishing, 15 per cent for salt water fishing and the remainder for casting, spinning or trolling.

"The whole key to the Pimple is to jig them, keep them moving," Apelgren said. Variations with fluted bodies are made for casting and spinning, but even these should be retrieved with the jerking motion used in jigging.

Only For Swedes

Swedish Pimples have caught walleye, perch, bluegills, crappies, cohos, smelt, trout, whitefish and many other species.

New Hampshire passed a law several years ago requiring single hooks on artificial lures used in ice fishing," Apelgren said. "This was aimed directly at us because the fishermen found the Pimple too effective."

Asked how the lure happened to get its name, Apelgren said, "It was just a joke," he said. "We told the fishermen they had to be Swedes to

Card of Thanks

Fletcher

In memory of our husband and father, Carl G. Fletcher who passed away one year ago, Aug. 31, 1967.

He bid no one a last farewell. His loving heart had ceased to beat. He never knew he was gone. Every day we sadly miss him. Deeply we feel our loss. Lonely we are without him. Help us, God, to bear our cross.

In Memoriam

Carney

In loving memory of my husband, Clarence E. (Jack) Carney, who passed away September 1, 1967.

Since you have gone from me my love, That wonderful home of rest above, I know not why, but I guess God knew best. He needed another rose in his garden of rest. I'll always love you forever my love, Even though you are gone away from here. You are missed more and more as days go by. So please Dear God watch over and take care of him for me in your home in the sky.

Sadly missed by his Wife,
Elvera
